THE HAY FEVER SEASON.

N estimated 3,000,000 sufferers from hay fever are now concentrating their attention upon methods of alleviating the discomfort that visits them annually.

As usual, the malady is aggravated by weeds that flourish everywhere. Apparently no serious effort is made, even in cities, to eliminate the source of the discontent.

Weeds flourish most amid cultivated soil. Scientists count the pollen in the air every about average, which means that the sufferers will go through the usual period of sneezing until the hay fever season ends.

WORKING ON THE RAILROADS.

T is unfortunate that consideration. of the railroad problem was so long delayed by the last Congress that proposed legislation had to be deferred until next session. Few single acts could have been more generally beneficial to the country than a completed plan for equitably regulating transportation, to the end that no carrier be penalized and none favored.

However, the last Congress did make a start, and a good one. Bills were introduced in each branch which, generally speaking, cover the major phases of the transportation problem as it exists today. These bills have been given the overwhelming endorsement of the Senators and Representatives. They are now in committee, and it is believed that minor differences existing between them will be easily ironed out, so that the next Congress can take action immediately on convening.

BOXING-

THE recent fistic "natural" of the year (Armstrong-Ambers) turned out to be an upset to the sports-world and left Hammerin' Henry Armstrong with an empty 5 space on his head where the lightweight championship crown once rested.

The new champion Lou Ambers, became the first fighter in ring history to win back the 135-pound crown, when he struggled through fifteen rounds before a crowd of almost 30,000 fans to take the decision.

However, had not Hammerin' Hank lost five of the fifteen dounds by a bit of low punching—he still would be champ and the story would have been different. But, Ambers was the victor and naturally, a terrible shower of objections and protests rang out from Armstrong's corner when the decision was announced, and even some of the ringside fans didn't find the result any too acceptable.

But with Arthur Donovan, being the referee very few doubted that Hammerin' Hank was landing punches on the wrong side of the line and if they did they were none I too anxious to challenge the word of Donovan, who is known to be the tops as a referee in the fistic world. The rivalry between the two is not considered over by any means, though, and within 24 hours after Ambers had regained his title, it was announced that contracts for a return match had been already sign-

So, when Ambers was winning back his crown at Yankee Stadium he was also winning a chance to dodge Hammerin' Hank's two-fisted blows again this fall—this time in the welterweight division. They say that Armstrong makes a better fighter as a welterweight and they 3 say, too that he won't land any low punches this time. Well, if all that's true, maybe Lou better enjoy that title now—while he has it.

OUTBOARD RACING—

Six new world's record marks were chalked up in the recent speedboat races held at Red Bank, N. J., and a record number of boats (291) were entered in the two-day regatta, among those a queerly shaped craft piloted by Chauncey Hamlin, Jr., which cracked the world's record in the first heat (five miles) when he was clocked for the distance in

This speed of 66.176 miles an hour erased the former record of Julius Manger, Jr., which was 64.332 and was set in Maryland only last month.

Other world marks were set by John L. Hyde, who was clocked at 52.173 in the morning heat of the 135 class and broke Anerback's record, set in 1937, also at Red Bank--Arno Apel in the 91 cubic inch class won the title "Champ" and set a new record at 8.361, breaking the old mark of 47.145 formerly held by Al Strum, Fla. George B. Ward, Jr., set a new record of 52.254 in Class E racing runabouts. Fred Casanave set the new world mark of 38.135 in Class E Service runabouts. Joe Monigle set a new mark at 41 plus in the Class C group.

TENNIS-

For the first time in 58 years, the U. S. tournament at Brookline, Mass. was a battle between foreigners in the finals. Australia backing up her promise to be plenty strong in the Davis Cup competition this year. The main source of worry is derived from the display of brilliance on the court by Adrian Quist and John Bromwich (Australians), who outplayed just about everything Uncle Sam had to offer.—Omit the just about.

The American Wimbleton champions (Bobby Riggs and Elwood Cooke) fell before the Australian steam-roller in straight sets—6-1, 6-4, 6-0. So did Mako and Tidball, and also Parker and McNeill (both supposed very powerful American teams.) But Quist and Bromwich didn't beat any other famous American teams—they were all far, far

In the finals Quist and Bromwich met two more Australians, Hopman and Crawford. Well, Hopman and Crawford put up a good fight, too.

ODDITIES—

Again it's the Brooklyn Dodgers who are in the spotlight. Recently they staged a play entitled, "How To Put Out the Fire—Witout Water." The play was a huge success, but asad, story to Ray Blades of the Cardinals, who is still wondering how it all happened. In the meantime, the Cincinnati Reds sponsored a play also; it was entitled, "How to Increase a Flag-Race Lead." The Philadelphia Phillies were the honored guests.

CHADDY'S CHATS

FROM HOLLYWOOD

CCORDING to Commentator Whitney Bolton the advent of warm weather has created a ravening hunger for the Phillipine lagoon built at Samuel Goldwyn studios for scenes in "The Real Glory," starring Gary Cooper. So great was the natatorial urge among the company that prop men were forced to put up signs: "Positively No Swimming."

And, back in a secluded grove, will open at the A. & G. Theater, shaded, cool, the kind of place a star might like to sneak into, there is a smaller, but even more pointed sign: "That Goes for You, Too,

Memories of the late Will Rogers pervade the "Konga" set at Columbia studios. Without doubt, Laura Hope Crews is one of the foremost character actresses of stage and screen. She is respected in Hollywood as dramatic coach as well as thespian.
